NEW OUTBACK PHOTOGRAPHY COURSE ELIMINATES THOSE 'OH, BUGGER, I MISSED IT' MOMENTS!

Heading off for the Big Trip around Australia? Venturing into the Outback for the holiday of a lifetime? Don't forget your camera! And learn how to make the most of each fabulous photo opportunity by attending WA's first Outback Photography course.

The new course will be run by one of Australia's most experienced photographers and lecturers, Master Photographer Dale Neill. Sponsored by leading touring and training company Global Gypsies, photo experts Wild Heart Adventures and Murdoch University's School of Tourism, the course incorporates both theoretical and practical information and is designed especially for outback conditions.

Topics covered include professional tips and secrets on lighting, timing, weather conditions, techniques, content, composition, editing, equipment, accessories, maintenance, selling your photos and more. With his extensive photographic experience in Australia, Egypt and India, Dale will demonstrate how to put the 'WOW' factor in every shot.

"Secrets of Outback Photography 1 – A Fast-track Survival Guide for You and Your Camera" will take place on Monday, May 4, from 7:30 – 9:30 p.m. It is a quick and easy session on how to take awesome outback snaps, how to choose and look after your camera and how to maximise photo opportunities. The cost is just $45 per person.

"Secrets of Outback Photography 2 - Capturing the Spirit, Colour and Drama of the Australian Outback" will be a practical, in-depth, hands-on workshop limited to just 20 participants. It will take place on Saturday, May 16, from 10:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. and will cost $145 per person including one-on-one consultation.

The venue for both sessions will be Murdoch University and the price includes course notes and light refreshments.

Dale Neill says, "Taking excellent photos in the outback is a challenge for any photographer. There are special considerations such as controlling contrast, achieving pin-sharp images and capturing the illusion of space. However, without the proper training it's easy to blow that one-off photo opportunity. This new course will not only teach participants how to take the best possible photos in Australia's unique outback conditions, it will also help them eliminate those infuriating "Oh bugger! I missed it!" moments!"
